HIGH SCHOOL SONG

Here's to her whose name we'll ever
Cherish in our song,
Dear old High School, dear old High School
Praise to her belongs.

Chorus: Gloriana, Frangipanna, here's to her success,
We to her will e'er be faithful,
Hail, N. A. H. S.

Seniors, Juniors, Sophs, and Freshmen
All together stay,
On to victory, on to victory,
We will win the day.

Honor to the Black and Crimson,
Banner held so dear,
It will lead us to our triumph
Cheer old High School, cheer.

19 THE SENIOR BLITZ 23

TO MISS KIRK

You laughed with us
When we were glad
You sympathized
When we were sad
You never shirked
You did your part
You won a place
In every heart.
To show how we appreciate
This book to you we dedicate.

H. E. W.

19 THE SENIOR BLITTER 23

New York, N. Y.,
May 26, 1933.

Miss Helen Green,
The White House,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Helen:

The disappointment, when your letter came stating that you would not be able to come to our reunion of the Class of '23, was felt by every member present.

The reunion was not only a success but a pleasure as well. Our hearts were made glad when hands clasped once again after an interval of ten years. The only drawbacks were the vacant chairs of those too far away to come.

Everyone, who did not attend, sent a letter and each letter was read at the big meeting held in the auditorium of the new High School on Vincennes Street.

I will try to give you a minute description of everyone and each event.

Our chairman, Jewett Hull, called the reunion together and read all the letters of the absent ones. Yours happened to be the first one he read. Then came three letters from the missionary fields.

One was from Irma Dome, who is a missionary in China; Charles Kendall's letter from India was interesting and Mary Wood told us much of Korea. A letter from the Hawaiian Islands proved to be from Robert Clapp, who was appointed postmaster of the Islands last December.

Jacob Dowerman, who owns a large hotel at Key West, Florida sent his regrets. When the letters of Lieutenant Morris (Bobby, you know) and Captain Bowling were read, the crowd cheered. They told of their experience on board ship, in a very interesting manner.

19 THE SENIOR BLIPPER 23

Of course, it was no surprise to hear of the achievement of Cathryn Trautmen, Nellie House, and Welman Shrader, who are studying music in Europe. They were entertaining when quite young.

After all the letters were read, each one gave a brief description or talk of their failures or successes during the past ten years.

New Albany's leading newspaper was well represented. Right on the front row sat Helen Wells, editor, N. McKamy, sport writer, Martha Hopkins, social editor, and Walter Kiser, cartoonist.

You should have seen Mary Green. She is quite a promising designer and wore one of her own creations. Next to her sat Virginia Leptic and Ethel Dooley, who are our humane officers.

Who would have thought that out of that big Class of '23 only eight would take up stenography? But those eight were there. They are: Beatrice Diedrich, Blanche Huntsinger, Thelma Meredith, Helen Irion, Ruth Gross, Meredith Bohannon, Agnes Coleman and Gladys Bence.

One of the best talks of the evening was made by Vernon Lopp. He is a great lawyer and is celebrated all over the South and West.

One of the most successful men financially, is John Miner, who owns and operates a chain of movie shows in the Three Falls Cities. He has working under him, as managers and operators, Bradley Beggs, Cecil Davis, L. Dillow, Gilbert King and Joe Lewellen.

New Albany boasts of a multi-millionaire, who made his money by a wonderful auto invention. You remember Merrill Brown, I know. He owns the great "Browns Auto Plant" east of the city and bids fair to out-rival Henry Ford. Several of the old crowd is employed there as, mechanics, book-keepers and clerks. Those who said they worked for him are: M. Gledhill, H. Lowe, Joella Fox, Irma Voyles, M. E. Shindler, Geo. Shrader and B. Tighe.

Just north of the city is the Tourists Camp which has many extensive buildings and garages, controlled by Melvin Borgerding and Humphrey Miner. They have for their assistants the following: Edward Kron, Paul Corcoran and H. Wiseman. Also Nellie Totten and Mildred Venner, who take care of the woman tourists.

The Grimes-Jones Company was well represented. Dan Thompson, Elizabeth Beers, Julia Ashabrunner and Pierce Seal are on the editorial staff. Pat and Paul came too and Pat made a speech which made the old class laugh for he told funny experiences he has had since the time he and Paul made memory books for us girls.

Martha Oltman's success has not turned her head one bit. She was there, all smiles as she gave a brief reading of her latest hit—"If Summer Goes." Lank's book was a howling success and New Albany is proud of her gifted young authoress.

Mildred Helbig, who owns the large candy store here attended the meeting and treated the old class with some of those famous "Helbig Chocolates." Toot's store is certainly up-to-date. Roberta Smith is in business with her and manages the branch store in Louisville.

Freda Prosser, Tessie Nirmaier, M. A. Hubbuch, Julius Croxall and Anna Lester, are teachers in the High School. They were all there and so was the Principal, Maurice Kahl, who stepped right into the place when Mr. McLinn entered the faculty of Purdue.

Dr. James Baxter and Russell Kelso gave talks of their experience in Plastic surgery. They have been most successful in their vocation.

Elizabeth Richard and Beatrice Morge greeted the old class with glad handshakes. They operate the "Silver Hills Pleasure Park" (a rival of Fontaine Ferry).

Our merchants, who are in the dry goods business seemed satisfied with the way time has treated them. They are L. Walker and Pauline Bunch.

Two members of the old class own and control two wholesale drug stores. You, no doubt, remember Homer and Leo Leist.

Ralph Graybrook, who owns the largest Dairy Farm in Southern Indiana, had much to tell us about cows and milk. He has many blue ribbons on his entries at the County Fairs. By the way, he took us to his farm and I must say we had a wonderful time.

Our Mayor, James Moore, who was so jolly at school was there and welcomed us to our reunion.

Two trained nurses smiled and mingled with the crowd. Can you guess who they are? Freda Lang and Ruth Lee, no one else.

Virginia Seabrook and Gladys Kemp, who have a large dress-making establishment in Louisville came and greeted the old crowd. They were dressed in Fashion's latest Mode.

Senator Russell Pearce and Representative Harry Darneal of Washington gave glowing accounts of the capitol.

New Albany has another fine hospital. The great surgeon, James Noyes, and his able assistant are in charge. There is also connected with this new institution John Callahan and six nurses, Alice Johnson, Mary Frances Jones, Agnes Knoob, Dolly Wyman, Freida Young and Helen Mitchell.

19 THE SENIOR BLIPPER 23

Our Chamber of Commerce was represented by Roy Heizer and Kenneth Brown, who have done great things for our city.

Our coal and coke merchant, Leo Schaefer, greeted us warmly, also Morton Wolfe of the firm of Wolfe and Lowe, manufacturers of concrete blocks.

Edward Cheap, who is of the editorial staff of the Louisville Courier-Journal came smilingly in, reminding us of 'days gone by.

Our reunion came to a close with a banquet at the High School. The old crowd dispersed with vowed intentions of keeping in touch with one another and if possible, to meet again in the future.

The benediction was pronounced by the Reverend James Hoglen, of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Several of us girls visited the new beauty parlor of Nina Austin and had our hair dressed for the banquet.

I am so sorry Helen, you missed the good time at our banquet. Such a lovely time we had, music, flowers, and pretty dresses added beauty to the scene, while the laughter and conversation of the old crowd cheered each and every one present.

Just a few words more, I know this is your busy time for your duties as Social Secretary to the First Lady of the Land are very exacting, and I know you are very busy most all the time. But as I have three or four more weeks of vacation, I will stop off to see you on my way home and expect to enjoy my visit immensely. After that then I will go home to resume my work at Short's Emporium.

Sincerely yours,

Shorty.

Chester Wilcox, Fullback. "Cotton" was the sensation of the year. He was an excellent captain and he has another year to play.

James Baxter, Quarterback. Jimmie was light but speedy. He was a good field general and always used good judgment.

Russ Kelso, Center. "Rusty" was one of the best centers in the state. He was best on the defense, breaking up plays in all parts of the line. His passing also was faultless.

Jewett Hull, Guard. A bulk of strength to the line. Visiting teams made very few gains thru Jewett's side of the line.

Russel Pearce, Halfback. "Nig" was a great broken field runner and he displayed an unusual amount of grit.

Herman Wagner. Although "Hans" was very light he played a great game at end, breaking up passes and tackling hard.

Ralph Bates. "Uncle Ralph" was a "whang" at end but he was even still better at Fullback.

John Schaaf, Guard. Red never made much noise but he was always in the game. His strongest game was on defense.

Guy Mackey, Tackle. "Sherry" was a reliable player, consistent in his training, a hard tackler and with these qualities should make a fine captain next year.

Robert Kiser, Center. "Big Bob" was tall and rangy, slow but sure and no matter how trying the condition never lost his head.

Thomas Deem, "Quarterback." Tommy possessed wonderful qualities for this position as he was sturdy, heady, and fast. He was noted for his long end runs.

Hugh Breen, "Guard." "Circle" was a great fighter, solemn, determined and fierce. He could always be depended on.

Herbert Bryant, Guard. "Salty" was the happiest boy on the squad, always laughing and joking and keeping up the team morale. He was a brilliant performer on the defense.

Jacob Dowerman, Guard, Jake was massive and compact, filled up a big gap in the line and always "blasted" a hole for the necessary gains.

Jean Marquet, Halfback. "Sheeny" was a splendid line plunger and was good on both the offensive and defensive.

Martin McCullough, Halfback. "Wop" was the fastest man on the team, was quiet and steady, being especially proficient in breaking up forward passes.

Northcote: "Salty, what are you going to be when you get out of High School?"

Salty: "Old man I guess."

Rodg: "Chester why is your grades always lower than anyone else in the class?"

Cotton: "I give up. Why is it?"

Nina A.: (at base-ball game): "Isn't our pitcher grand, he hits their bats no matter where they hold them."

Jim B.: "Marty got hurt badly in the St. Mary's game, he got an awful spill."

Coffee: "Hows that?"

Jim: "Why, the goal post he was leaning against fell down and the doctor says it will be two weeks before he'll be able to loaf again."

Door-keeper of Picture Show: "So you want to see a boy inside, eh? Who is it?"

Marsey G.: "ME."

'25: "Do you know Boo?"

'26: "Boo who?"

'25: "Don't cry."

Bang! went the rifles at the maneuvers.

"Oh!" screamed a pretty blond, as she stepped backwards into the arms of a young man.

Oh she said blushing, I was frightened by the rifles. "I beg your pardon.

"Not at all," said the young man, "Lets go over and watch the artillery."

Mr. Daniels: "How come, Breen, that you got this splinter in your tire?"

Hugh: Couldn't help it Prof., the fellow had a wooden leg.

Senior Girl (to freshman who has just picked up her handkerchief): "Thank you, but if I do it again you must let it lay. It wasn't you I meant."

To Our Readers

You have looked through the "Blotter" and have been careful not to miss anything. Now we ask you, not as a matter of form but really as an honest request to look through the following advertisements and when you go to purchase anything remember the men and women who have so liberally patronized us and in return give them your patronage. Without their financial support we would have had to charge considerably more for our books. Once more, we request you to read the "Blotter Ads," and trade with the advertisers.—"It Pays."

HAPPY is the man that knows he was born to work, who knows he can work, and that by work well done he can keep on climbing as other men have done to more enjoyable and profitable work.

If he is jealous of other men above him, let him remember that it has long been given out as a fact that John Jacob Astor, the first Astor, peddled his goods from a basket, and that Thomas A. Edison worked at his beginnings in a barn of a place, said to have been used once as a stable.

No man need always stop at his beginnings if he has got anything more in him.

Take a move, at once, upon yourself.

Pat Says:—

When Nig Pearce goes to college, he will have to learn all over again, the five points of bolting.

Five main points of a high school course are—Brody's, Walts', Pfeffers', Sercheys', and the Candy Kitchen.

A short fellow should get him a tall girl so he will have something to look up to.

Jean Margaret was so disgusted with the little excursion boat on the night of the Elks' Moonlight, he went down below to see who was rowing her.

When my sister got spanking, she ate her dinner like the traveling knight—off the mantle.

Its' not against the traffic rules to make a left turn in a porch swing.

A man is known by the company that keeps him.

The stock broker was interested in "B & O."

I am interested in "U & I."

Health hint—Never hold a lighted stick of dynamite in your hand or try to put something over on Mr. McSinn.

A Young Fox stole into a Miner's Cheap House in the Wood and made Moore Noyes than the thunder Clapp that shook St. Peter's Dome.

If, after you've read this you can't crack a smile, sharpen your pencil and write a while.
